NEARER HOME.

'One sweetly solemn thought,"
Sang the maiden soft and low; ing the maiden soft and low; lie the tender strains were fraught ith soulful ebb and flow.

"I am nearer home to-day,"
And the sunlight glints her brow,
While the thought her heart doth sway,-

Years come on with steady tread, With their change of weal and woe-"I've nearly left the cross," she said, And the notes were few and slow.

"Father, perfect my trust—"
Add the eyes of lustrous blue,
Soon to slumber 'neath the dust,
Lighted with a heaven form hue.

"O take me beneath thy care!"
Now the voice grows fainter yet,
And her face more saintly fair
For life's golden sun had set.

She had laid her burdens down
On the world's storm drifted sea,
She had gained the great white crown
Just across the crystal sea.
—[Chicago News.

A CIRCUS IN COURT.

Four Chinese Actors Display Their Ability Before Judge Hoffman.

Kwong, Wa and Lee Tong. The four a tendency to melancholy. An apti- ton territory. claimed that they had been employed previous to 1881, when they returned to China, at the Chinese theater on Jackson street, near Dupont. During the son street, near Dupont. During the course of their everying and severe, uncharitable and son street, near Dupont. They write a small, cramped the course of their everying and severe there are the course of their everying and severe there are the course of their everying and severe there are the course of their everying and severe there are the course of their everying and severe there are the course of their everying and severe there are the course of their everying and severe there are the course of their everying and the course of their everying and the course of their everying and the course of their examination some doubts and illegible were expressed as to their respective ma abilities as exponents of the Chinese drama, and at the request of Carroll wo Cook each of the four exerted himself to and display his dramatic worth. Long who know was a "jumper," and rising fine and placing his chair to one side he of c stood on one leg, holding the other out straight and holding both arms heavenward, with the fingers of his hands outstretched, he hopped around to the infinite amusement of all in the court room. exe He displayed such agility that no one that disputed his claim and he was dis- mat charged. Wa was a sweet singer from the "chop stick" district, and he commenced a Chinese rendering of the of the pen. The lines are straight with "Babies on our Block," beginning in a the paper, the up-strokes and downlow, fog-horn key, and rising suddenly strokes are short, while the capitals are to a shriek that caused the building to small and angular. Diplomacy has a shake and his honor to order him dis-charged at once and removed from the fully kept, slender finger nail. But the neighborhood, for fear he might be handwriting of a diplomatist is not apt tempted to tackle another bar of the to see clear; it always looks like a snake song. Ah Sie was a female impersona- gliding away. There are no clear, gitor, and went through the performance gantic capitals like John Hancock's of a forlorn maiden with an imaginary none of the fine curves suggestive of villian still pursuing her. According to generosity and expansion; all is com-Sie's rendering the forlorn maiden of pressed and impenetrable. Certain inthe flowery kingdom, when she sees a flexible natures express themselves both than brunettes. It is not believed villian approaching, holds her arms out by finger nails and by the handwriting that it is the fault of the blondes, straight and whirls around like a top, at the same time uttering shrill shrieks | —both are blunt and determined. The of terror, supposed to pierce the vil- one might almost write with the ends lian's heart like arrows. Judge Hoff- of them. The tenacity of the Chinese man ordered the versatile Sie dis- nail, which does not break, shows that singer. The remaining actor, when than we of a different race. At one called upon to show his abilities, aston- time, when good Queen Anne bit her ished everyone. First of all he kicked finger nails it was the fashion for all off his shoes, and then proceeded to the English aristocracy to bite theirs; clear the chairs from the center of the and in those days the English finger court room. The interpreter winked at nail was not what it is now. Fashion Mr. Cook and explained that the last exerts a potent influence on man, savman was a clown. Judge Hoffman age or civilized. The Botecuder of note of men but by their loss. was beginning to look aghast at the de- Brazil, and the Hydailr of Queen Charliberation with which the so-called lotte's island insert a wooden or ivory said recently to have forgotten her clown was preparing for his exhibition. | plug under the lip of their women, A space of twenty feet having been cleared the clown stood in the center of sembles a shelf overhanging the chin. the space and glared around with such The fashionable women of to-day wear a demoniac grin and roll of his eyes, a bustle that is almost as deforming. that several of the attorneys moved uneasily in their seats. It was only for a moment. Immediately after the Chinaman gave a bound in the air and altouched the large chandelier; then he rolled over and over, this way and that, and all that was visible was a black ball with legs and arms flying around it. He was up in the air, then at this end of the room, then at the other. The "Beggar's Dance" which Pan-ku-keevis danced at Hiawatha's festival, was nothing to compare with this display of agility. Fearful that the zeal of the actor would lead him too far, and that he would expire from exhaustion, Judge Hoffman declared himself satisfied that the clown was really a peer in his profession, and other evidence of the clown's former residence here being adduced, Judge Hoffman ordered him discharged and bail exon-

Six Grizzlies in a Heap.

C. F. Blackburn in Salt Lake Tribune. Not long since I was riding toward Cloud Peak and had gone only three miles when I discovered three enormous grizzlies down in a horseshoe canyon. I left my pony, went to the canyon wall and opened fire on the enemies. The bears were five hundred yards away. My first shot wounded one of the monsters, and the wounded one immediately attacked the other bear. They fought desperately for fifteen minutes. It was a terrible encounter; the beasts would strike, bite and roll around, giving frightful growls, enough to scare a fellow even at the top of the canyon. The wounded bear was beaten by its antagonist, after which I shot the victor. They were both ferocious looking animals, and the two would weigh over 3,000 pounds. Their tusks measured three inches, claws four inches, feet fourteen inches, and the bears were twelve feet

Leaving these two bears I walked over a ridge not more than a mile away and came on to four more, two black and two silver-tip bears. They did not see me, and my position was a good one on the ice and near a nice smooth crag of granite. Slipping on a pair of mocasins. I was soon on the top of the granite knob 150 feet above ground. I opened fire immediately, only 200 yards, and killed two the first shot, and soon had them all rolling down the mountain together. It was an exciting time; the four bears made a terrible noise. Bawling and deep groans, mingled with keen reports from my rifle, echoed and reechoed, making a sound rivaling the very hall of pandemonium itself. the passing breezes through pine boughs and a few squalling ravens. I listened over an ounce of powdered extract of across on the opposite mountain. But of potassium and stir the whole well. where he sometimes used to lunch and or in the presence of God, if he will. none were in sight. After seeing a large eagle swoop down among the pines, leading the mixture.—[Popular Science News.] went in, telling him to attend him. The mixture of the mixture of catching a large grouse, I descended from my rocky knob and ventured up to the bears. There they all lay in a heap, all dead in the gulch together. pounds.

A TRIPLE BOND.

Finger Nails, Character and Handwriting Closely Linked.

Since the new science of reading oxidation and incrustation. character by the handw the lon sup gui ine tha are and down-strokes cut into the lines above and beneath them. The Among the Chinese habeas corpus cases that came up for hearing before Judge Hoffman yesterday were those of four Chinese actors, Ah Sie, Long ward movement this handwriting shows are large. The handwriting shows ard and immost without knots; the other 144 feet long and 18 inches square, practically clear stuff. They came from Washing-However there d and sent to find the sweet they have more lime in their bones causing a hideous deformity that re-

A Saratoga Beauty.

Saratoga Letter. The other attractive sight is that of : young woman who comes down every morning fresh from her room and mounts | are 25. a milk white horse almost statuesque in its beauty, and rides away, the horse Paris is the occupation of Mlle. Emma. dancing and going through more gambols and frisky movements than a lamb at play, but he does not seem vicious. of the finest horsewomen I have ever seen, and besides one of the handsomest women. Her hair is almost red, and her little selves. skin clear pink and white; her figure is most elegant manner. Her riding habit is of dark green cloth with tiny gold buttons, and she wears a gold lace coldecidedly aristocratic mien accompanies her on her rides and to the ball rooms, and, in fact, wherever she goes, and she in harmony. is indefatigable as a dancer, and in riding and promenading. Everybody admires them, and though they are both very polite, they form no intimate acquaintances, and their names are down on the register as Mr. Smith and daughpiazzas have decided that there is some- a hater of court ceremonials, yet withal ter. All the women who chat on the that they don't believe that their names are Smith at all, but that they are some noted English people traveling incog. duce Miss Smith's maid to "tell the favorite seat is a hunting lodge up in truth, now, about your young lady's the mountains. It is said that he name," but she is proof against all blan- sleeps in a large, lofty room with the dishments, and if there is a secret she keeps it. All the same, the young lady fairly divides hours with Vanderbilt's and Walls' turnouts.

He Had Been Reading of Greely.

merville Journal young man showed no signs of a disposition to take his leave. After relieving herself of several yawns, the young lady said:

"You have been reading about the Greely expedition, haven't you?"

"I have. Why?" about it that you fancy you are now in the Arctic regions yourself?"

"What makes you think so?" "Because you seem to be under the impression that you are in a region where the nights are six months long.

He took his hat. A pure black upon wood may be pro-In a few minutes all was quiet save duced by the application of the follow- portant business of state. The king

POHULAR SCIENCE

Statistics published since the late earthquake in England show that a forced in the door. No king was Those six bears would weigh over 7,000 total of 255 shocks have been recorded there. He had made his exit by a in the British Isles, the severest having occurred on November 14, 1318.

> Plates of cast glass have been substituted for copper in the sheathing of an Italian vessel, the joints being made tight with a silicate mastic. The advantages claimed are exemption from for Lola Montez—and this opera is good cement for putting tickets on work and tin is thus made: Take meal, a little solution of glue and er, and make a paste, but not too ek; mix it with as much Venetian pentine as necessary. It will stand plan for lessening the violence of ms has been submitted to the French proposes to use a great number of ning rods elevated on telegraph s and connected with the iron ks of railways.

Recently there were, in San Francisco, Cal., two sticks of timber, one long and 18 inches square, practically of Germany came to Munich to pass ether, will render leather water-of. By adding two parts of copas and six of water it takes on a sick rooms where there is dipria, measles, scarlet fever, etc., the should be impregnatek with the r of equal parts of turpentine and polic acid. Half a teaspoonful in a le of boiling water from time to will be sufficient. It will be found elieve the sufferer and prevent the ad of the malady.

anulated cork is an excellent nonucter of heat, and is on this act a very desirable material in the construction of refrigerator cars. It is also used in the floors of passenger cars as a "deadener" of the noise of the running gear. It is made by running the scraps in a cork factory through a mill which reduces them to a coarse powder.

THE DEAR CREATURES.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's last bonnet cost

There are more unmarried blondes

A woman in Canada has been fined for persistently wheeling a baby carriage in front of a neighbor's door.

There is a girl in Turner, Me., who smokes, chews, shaves, swears and beam." wears a man's hat. What more could she do to entitle her to the right of

The champion widow lives in Iowa. She sees that the graves of eleven husbands are kept green. She takes no

A woman in Fultonville, N. Y., is child while she was busy rescuing a crazy quilt from a burning building. Probably she had one crazy quilt and a house full of children. A St. Louis man 25 years old is the victim of a queer mania. He firmly believes that he is 70 years old. There are some equally queer cases in Philadelphia, the victims being women who are 70 years old, yet firmly believe they Feeding fleas in an animal show in She bares her shapely arms and sets a lot of fleas free on them. They feed their fill on her warm blood and then The young lady who mounts him is one they are put at work again drawing carriages and cannons weighing ever so many hundred times more than their

An Afghan woman asked the ameer perfection itself, and she dresses in the for a divorce because her husband was of steam. George, if we blow up you growing bald-headed. The verdict was must save me—indeed, you must. that the head should be anointed with What's that glass thing?" sour milk; that the woman should lick lar and cuffs, instead of the traditional it off until the scalp shone again; that linen collar. An old gentleman of a then she should ride through the bazar on a donkey with her face astern, and that the husband and wife should dwell

His Bavarian Majesty.

Tinsley's Magazine. Multifarious are the anecdotes-fables, some of them, I really believetold of the king. He is a misogynist, thing very mysterious about them, and a man who stands upon his dignity; a passionate lover of music and mounthe autonomy of Bavaria. He will not in'-beam myself, and I'm going to have it Prussianized at any price. His ceiling painted to represent the firmament, and a practicable moon shedding a mellow light from one quarter of the artificial heavens. The perspective is managed so as to give the illusion of spaciousness, and through the distant trees cut out in the canvas, as he reclines, may be heard the plash of It was growing very late, but the falling waters. Their lullaby hushes him to sleep. Mæcenas had a friendliness for the same soporific. Sometimes his majesty rises in the night, has a black steed saddled, and dashes off at a whirlwind speed up and down the hill roads-which are well kept for that reason-like a phantom horseman pur-"And you have thought so much sued by some relentless decree of the supernatural powers. The finest stud in Bavaria is to be found in his stables, but cattle are cast soon and often; they are thoroughly worn out and broken down after a few years in the royal service. He plays practical jokes on his retinue sometimes. It is related of him that a minister arrived in hot haste once to crave an audience on imand at last, losing patience, and fear-ing that his royal master might have been attacked by some sudden illness, window at the back and was away on the high hills in pursuit of game. In the capital his majesty often commands produced in the middle of the day. The theater is darkened, and no one is admitted to the auditorium but himself. If he is pleased he sends the prima donna, not a bracelet or a ring, but a bouquet of flowers plucked by his own hand. He once had "Lohengrin" enacted on the Starnberger See, the borders of the lake having been illuminated a glorino at his expense. When the war with France broke out he was demy of Sciences by M. Minard, displeased, but dare not attempt to stem the tide of universal German feeling. However, he declined to go to the front, and withdrew himself to his beloved solitudes while the stirring events which led to the building of the German empire were thrilling the world with excitement. At the close of the duel of Titans, the crown prince the victorious Bavarians in gala review. The king fled again to the mountains. He knew the popular commander would receive an enthusiastic greeting. and he did not chose to play second fiddle in his own capital to any domestic foreigner. He takes a deep interest in the "Passion Play," and when Josef Meyer was drafted into a fighting contingent he gave strict orders that he should be detained at Munich and employed as a clerk in the war office. The village of the Mystery lost its own share in that conflict which brought mourning to so many humble firesides in the fatherland, and of the actual performers two or three who had speaking parts in 1870 were killed in the field or succumbed to their wounds.

By the Dial.

They had been sitting on the promenade deck for more than an hour, when she suggested that they go down stairs and look at the machinery. He agreed, and an old lady who sat near by and heard the conversation rose up

"Young man, have you any objection to my going along? I've allus been crazy on the subject of machin-

He replied that he would be delighted, and she followed the couple to the main deck. "This, I suppose you know," began the young man. "is called the main "Yes—yes—came from the state of Maine," twittered the young lady.

The old lady stuck up her nose but made no remarks.

"Oh, is it? How nice! You wouldn't think it would walk, but of course it does.' The old woman put on her spectacles to get a better look at the girl.

"That rod you see there," continued the young man, "is called an eccen-"How funny! But why shouldn't it be? There are eccentric people, and why shouldn't there be eccentric rods? I presume it gets cranky sometimes. Go on, George.

"I don't believe it!" muttered the old woman. "And this is called a steam chest, my dear." "Oh, is it? I've always wanted to see one. They put their steam in there to keep it cool and nice. It's the same principle as a refrigerator. Yes,

The old woman removed her specs and began to look as mad as a cow on a sand-bar.

"That thing up there is called a steam dial," said George.

"Oh, how nice! I've read of it somewhere in Shakespeare's work. I see the pointer is at 80. My! but who'd believe we were carrying eighty tons

"It's a water indicator." "Oh, I see. It indicates that we are on the water. How grateful we ought to be to the geniuses of America for these inventions."

Here the old lady started to leave with a "humph!" of disgust, but the young man called:

"Madame, you are not interested?" "Look-a-here, young man!" she exclaimed as she wheeled around; "mebbe you can make a fool of that innercent young gal, and mebbe she de-lights in it, but when it comes to stuffing old hens with chopped straw it tain scenery and a great stickler for won't go down! Pass on! I'm a walk-

> And away she sailed, carrying forty pounds of steam by the dial.

LIFE IS BUT A DAY.

A blithsome maid, at early morn, Comes tripping lightly o'er the lea; Of all God's creatures ever born The brightest, gladdest heart has she; And owning by her speech the sway Of rapt emotion, she doth say: "How glad a thing is life."

O'ercome at last by midday heat, And well nigh unremitting toil, A man of care lay down to sleep,
And snatch repose from life's turmoil.
He rose and with a sigh he said,
As Care reigned in Oblivion's stead:
"How sad a thing is life!"

An aged pair, at eve draw near.
With faltering steps, a lone churchyard;
Death long to them has lost its fear,
Although, in youth, to die seemed hard.
All hope in time has passed away,
Yet from the heart each one doth say:
"How grand a thing is life!"
—[The Argosy. The haunts of happiness are varied and rather unaccountable, but I have more often seen her among little chil dren, and home firesides, and the country houses, than anywhere else-at least I think so .- Sidney Smith. Let not any one say that he cannot govern his passion, nor "hinder" them our burden behind us .- Smiles. and a few squalling ravens. I listened closely for more bears, and could occallogwood and, when the solution is effected, add a dram of yellow chromate sionally hear their peculiar whistle fected, add a dram of yellow chromate preceded him to a gamekeeper's hut, sionally hear their peculiar whistle fected, add a dram of yellow chromate preceded him to a gamekeeper's hut, or in the presence of God, if he will.

Seventy-nine fires have been caused

MAD ARCTIC EXPLORERS.

Do the Horrors of the Polar Night Weaker the Human Brain?

Some time ago, "the present Mr. Pepys," writing in this journal, remarked upon the little known fact that the darkness, the loneliness, the starvation of cold which Arctic explorers undergo, breed madness in an extraordinary number of cases. We now learn that the minds of Lieut. Greely's companions were found to be "all weak," and that one became insane before he died. Our

De worth repeating:

Capt. C—— served as a junior officer in a certain north pole expedition. Away they went and soon were lost in solitude; and then a time with naught to do but watch a long procession of ghostly days. But in the days. But in the commander's ship his lieutenant went mad, and presently food began to fail, and then the commander, calling his officers together, told them they had come to the time of half rations. But it was also time, at a certain place that might be reached overland, a relief ship should arrive with stores; and now the question was, who would volunteer to go off to the ship, C--- offered to lead the party, and he did so, taking with him a fair share of provisions, and the mad lieutenant, who, poor wretch, was bound down in the boat he was drawn in. So they journeved day after day; the mad lieutenant presently regaining his reason, the wellhoarded provender still diminishing, till these poor seamen turned in one night to rest with their last biscuit in their

A sad night; but in the morning on again cheerily as might be, and there was the ship visible almost as soon as they had started. Now, there was a surgeon on board that ship; and after the surgeon had dutifully examined C--men, he took him aside and told him' he relapsed; and there was an end of him. As for C-, he only grew fretful. Like many other seamen, he thought himself neglected and his sufferings and services shamefully forgot. For years he grumbled, ever talking of his wrongs; as how many more do! and how pitiful it is to hear them. Now a certain great nobleman, the Duke of had lately refurnished and reappointed his ancient castle in the north; and when all was done he invited a great bevy of his friends to an entertainment there. and amongst them Capt. C-, for whom he had a kindness. The first evening there was a grand ceremonious banquet, and thereat sat C—, and as soon as soup was served grew warm about his wrongs and the notorious accursed favoritism of admiralty officials. Nor would he cease, though the duke threw him many a meaning glance; would have much pleasure in taking "That up there is the walking- wine with Capt. C-, and so forth. Now, at the table was a lord of admiral ty himself; and by that, and by the duke's friendship, we may understand how it came about that just as dinner was over a great letter, with a grand official seal, was handed by a footman to my captain. It had just arrived; it was of immediate importance; it was a commission of appointment to the command of a noble ship ordered on instant service. A word of leave-taking, and that very night the happy seaman was hurrying on the southward road. In due time he came to the port where his ship lay; and there she was in Sunday trim to receive him, and his lieutenant in full rig to welcome him. aboard. Gladly and proudly he stepped aboard; and forthwith went raving mad on his quarter deck.

How a Monarch Died.

Of the many strange stories told of the oldest actors—in those days when scenery was but an adjunct to the stage, and a wretched one at that-perhaps none is more grotesquely funny than the old one of Macready in "Hamlet," says the Hoosier. In the last act of "Hamlet," when, as all lovers of Shakspeare know, a general slaughter takes place, "Hamlet" soliloquizes for a few brief moments, uttering his sentences slowly before he himself feels the death pangs from 'Laertes' " poisoned blade. On the occasion in question the person who encasion in question the person who en-acted the part of "Claudius" (the king) left hip. P. O. address, McCook, Neb. had an enmity against "Hamlet;" and when the latter came near the end of his soliloquy, he noticed that should he drop where he stood, the curtain would not hide him from view when it fell. He therefore gave a kick to the prostrate king, and muttered to him angrily in a sotto voce the appalling direction: "Die further back."

Of this his enemy took no notice, and the unhappy "Hamlet" was compelled again to interrupt his ante-mortem statement (if so it may be called) by again admonishing his uncle to die a little further from the footlights: To this appeal the king paid no attention, and at last, goaded to desperation by the knowledge of the fact that his lines would permit of no further delay, "Hamlet" administered his admonition: "Die further back," accompanied by a kiek of great strength and vigor. To the astonishment of the doleful Dane, but to the delight of the audience (more especially to that portion commonly known as the gods,) the defunct king rose to a sitting posture, and with a stentorian voice said:

"I'm king here, and I'll die where please." Tableau!

SUNDRY SUGGESTIONS.

There is no public gambling in London. The "club room" system is extensive,

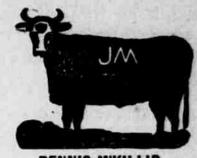

By a powerful current of electricity Mr. Edison kept his dying wife alive for There are not more than two or three women whose wealth is greater than Queen Victoria's. Hope is like the sun, which, as we journey toward it, casts the shadow of A woman in Canada has been fined

Seventy-nine fires have been caused

STOCK DIRECTOR

W. J. WILSON.

Stock brand-circle on left shoulder; also dewlap and a crop and under half crop on left ear, and a crop and under bit in the right. Ranch on the Republican. Post-office, Max, Dundy county, Nebraska.

HENRY T. CHURCH.

Osborn, Neb. Range: Red Willow creek, mad some day. As for the lieutenant, in southwest corner of Frontier county, catan over crop on right ear and under crop on left. Horses branded "8" on right shoulder.

SPRING CREEK CATTLE CO.

Indianola, Neb. Range: Republican Valsey, east of Dry Creek, and near head of Spring Creek, in Chase county, J. D. WELBORN, Vice President and Superintendent

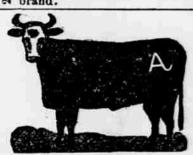

THE TURNIP BRAND.

Ranch 2 miles north of McCook. Stock branded on left hip, and a few double crosses on left side. C. D ERCANBRACK.

STOKES & TROTH.

P. O. Address, Carrico, Hayes county, Nebraska. Range, Red Willow, above Carrico. Stock branded as above. Also run the lazy a brand.

GEORGE J. FREDERICK.

Ranch 4 miles southwest of McCook, on the

JOHN HATFIELD & SON.

McCook, Neb., Ranch 4 miles southeast, on Republican river. Stock branded with a bar - and lazy = on left hip

J. B. MESERVE. rtanch, Spring Canyon on the Frenchman River, in Chase county, Neb. Stock branded as above; also '717' on left side; '7' on right hip and 'L.' on right shoulder; 'L.' on left shoulder and 'X.' on left jaw. Half under-crop left ear, and square-eron right ear.

JOSEPH ALLEN. Ranch on Red Willow Creek, half mile above Osborn postoffice. Cattle branded on right side and hip above.

FOR SALE—improved Deeded Farm and Hay Land. Timber and water. Two farm houses, with other improvements.
Convenient to No. 1 school privileges. Situated on Republican river, near acouth of Red Willow creek. Call on J. F. Black, on premises, or address him at Indianela, Nebraska.